DETAILED ACTIONDouble Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-10 remain rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1,4,5,8,10,11,16 of U.S. Patent No. 6656928. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the invention claimed in USPN '928 is similar to the instantly claimed invention. Note that inventions differ in scope. However both inventions make obvious a composition comprising calamine plus a corticosteroid plus an imidazole fungicide. USPN '928 makes it clear that the composition can exist in a gel form as instantly claimed. See US '928 column 4 lines 9-12.

Art Unit: 1616

Response to Applicant's Argument

The Examiner acknowledges that the Applicant will consider the filing of a terminal disclaimer. Until the filing of the terminal disclaimer, the obviousness-type double patenting rejection will be maintained.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-20 are no longer rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for an invention comprising hydrocortisone, clotrimazole and calamine lotion, does not reasonably provide enablement for an invention comprising all mid potency or high potency corticosteroid, calamine and all imidazole antifungal agents. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. Note that all working examples employ calamine as a lotion rather than a single chemical component of the composition. The calamine lotion contains ingredients such as zinc oxide, which aids in the penetration of the actives through the skin for better healing. Hydrocortisone is a mid potency corticosteroid and is the only corticosteroid provided in the examples. While hydrocortisone works well in the healing process when combined with calamine lotion and clotrimazole, hydrocortisone does not on its face support the claim to high potency corticosteroid or all other mid-potency corticosteroid. From the working examples one does not know if high potency corticosteroids would yield an adverse effect when combined with calamine lotion and clotrimazole. Likewise the only imidazole anti-fungal used in the examples is clotrimazole. From the working examples one does not know if other imidazole anti-fungal agents would yield an adverse effect when combined with calamine lotion and hydrocortisone.

Response to Applicant's argument

The Applicant is correct in that in that the claimed invention comprising a mid-potency or high-potency corticosteroid plus calamine plus an imidazole antifungal agent in the form a gel is fully supported by the specification.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 11-20 are allowable. The prior art does not teach or suggest a method of treating instant conditions using a composition comprising a mid-potency or high-potency corticosteroid plus calamine plus an imidazole antifungal agent in the form a gel.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
